

STEPPING UP TO FACILITATE TRADE FOR KING ISLAND

The Tasmanian Ports Corporation (TasPorts), at the request of Tasmanian Government, has agreed to provide a reliable shipping service to facilitate trade for King Island.

As the key facilitator of trade for Tasmania, we understand the critical nature of freight access and recognise the vital industry need for reliable supply chains. The Grassy Port currently manages over 60,000 tonnes of cargo and 50,000 head of cattle.

TasPorts is well positioned to provide the necessary skills, experience and systems to quickly deliver a reliable freight option for King Island.

We understand that King Island needs a regular sea freight service to provide certainty for the Island's community and industry.

The shipping service will work towards commencement of operations once the SeaRoad service has finished.

TasPorts appreciates that the community will be eager to understand the details of this new service. In order to map the requirements for the service, representatives from TasPorts' management team will be on the Island in the coming days and weeks to meet with customers and stakeholders. We will provide more details once we have collated and reviewed the information.
